

The year is 1927. Sarah Morton is looking forward to starting her new job as a tutor with a wealthy Yorkshire family. But she is taken aback when, as soon as she arrives, her young charge, Justin Howard, claims that someone wants him dead. When she speaks to his great-grandfather, Howard – the owner of the estate – he tells her that he too is fearful for Justin’s life. Justin stands to inherit everything, and he is worried the other family members are trying to kill him. Sulky and troublesome, Justin has a bad reputation with his relatives in the house. But with kindness and empathy Sarah manages to win him round. She soon realises that someone really is out to get Justin. Can she help Howard protect his charge? Or will she also be in danger from those wishing to claim his Deadly Inheritance?
