John Wesley emphasized five works of piety by adding fasting. In prayer we praise God for His known attributes. We need to take a hard look at contemplative prayer and ask some important questions: What is it and how.

Experiencing contemplative prayer may sound impossible, but taking these three essential first steps will bring you much closer to contemplating God. As Father Spitzer notes in his work, Five Pillars of the Spiritual Life, To know the unconditional love of God is the first step to prayer and contemplation. In her book *Centering Prayer and Inner Awakening, Cynthia Bourgeault find ways to stop "outer noise" it is much more difficult to still the "inner noise" (p.5). your particular physical needs demand do what you need to do to be comfortable .

What led me to Centering Prayer was a physician asking me, "Are you trying to do it all yourself? I was trying to do it myself, leaving out my dependence on God. As a result some Protestants may associate contemplation with Catholicism. the intimacy of prayer as being held in the "bosom" of God (Institutes III, 20, 5).
